Grant Crowell noted this would be a study meeting of the subdivision ordinance. He noted the Planning Commission had been going through section by section, during regularly scheduled planning commission meetings, and answering questions as they arose. However, because of the size of the ordinance the planning commission had decided to hold work sessions each week, in addition to their regular planning commission meeting, in order to review the ordinance in a timely manner.

The members begin review of section 150. The ordinance was reviewed and discussed.

No action was taken.
